No Hay Fever Cure

"DOCTOR, what would you do if you had hay fever?" That question is perfectly fair and puts it up squarely to the medical advisor. To start with psychology try to understand the nature of hay fever. Medical science is quite definite on that point: there is no reason for false ideas. It is due to the effect of the pollen grains from certain plants thrown in the air in great profusion in the conjunctival sac of the eye, the mucous membrane of the nose and the bronchial mucosa of certain sensitive individuals.

Second, it is important to face the fact of experience that hay fever is never cured. That saves a lot of time and expense. It serves to avoid such treatment as those for instance which aim at the destruction of the mucous membrane of the nose. Diet, exercise, physical condition and the kind of life you lead have nothing to do with the case. You might as well try to stop an invading army by going on a vegetable diet!

The best treatment is to take a vacation during the season and go to a resort where there is freedom—the mountains, the seashore, the northern Great Lakes country, Canada. For some of course, this advice is impractical.

The most comfortable and effective thing for the hay fever sufferer is an air conditioned room with a window filter. For an average bedroom there are many window filters on the market which are cheap and practical. Your furniture dealer ought to know about them. If you can equip both your bedroom and your day working quarters with a window filter, if only the bedroom at least that affords great relief.

About Shots

Whether I should take shots of the offending pollen or not depends upon the circumstances. They are not dangerous and they are by no means expensive. Furthermore they are quite uncertain. Unquestionably in certain cases they do prevent. No expert, however, can explain on a theoretical basis why they should work. If hay fever is a form of allergy and if all allergy is fundamentally anaphylaxis—which is what the experts claim—then every dose of vaccine, no matter how small, should make the victim worse.

INTEREST RATE ON TIME DEPOSITS CUT

Marion Banks Announce Reduction Effective Sept. 1.

Three banks, the County Bank, the Fahey Co., and the National Bank of Marion, today announced they will reduce interest rates on time deposits from one percent to one-half percent beginning Sept. 1. The reduction affects approximately $1,000,000 of deposits.

The light demand for funds has become necessary to the banks to invest their money in high interest-paying government securities at present yield. A statement issued by the banks pointed out in announcing the reduction.

The decrease in interest rate in Marion is in line with the trend among banks in the country, many of which have reduced their interest rates to one percent. The bank pays no interest on current deposits.

Social Affairs

THE wedding of Miss Jane Koons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Koons of 148 South Vine street, and Gene I. Agnew son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Agnew of 421 Olney avenue, was announced last evening when Mrs. Koons entertained at her home.

The wedding took place at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon Aug. 2, in the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church at Covington Ky. with Rev. Graham Gordon, minister, reading the ceremony. Mr. Waldo Peddicord Jr. was the brides attendant and Mr. Peddicord, who was a classmate of the bridegroom at Harding High school, served as best man.

For the ceremony Miss Koons chose a street-length frock in powder blue and her bonnet-shaped hat was in a matching shade. Her flowers were a corsage of Johanna Hill roses. Mrs. Peddicord was in navy blue crepe with white accessories and wore a corsage of sweet peas. Following the ceremony the couple left on a short wedding trip to Lexington, Ky.

Mr. Agnew and his bride are graduates of Harding High school. Mrs. Agnew is a member of Marion Bethel No. 2. John's Daughters and the Junior League. Recital club and has been studying art and interior decorating.

Mr. Agnew returned last year from Hawaii where he was serving as a supply sergeant in the United States army stationed at Fort Kamehameha. He is now finance accountant for the war department in Cincinnati, Ohio, district with headquarters in Cincinnati. The couple will be home after Aug. 25 at Apartment 305 451 Ludlow avenue, Cincinnati.

The ice cream molded in miniature books which bore the names of Gene and Jane and their wedding date disclosed the wedding table appointments were in Mrs. Agnew's wedding colors of peach and turquoise. Roses and delphinium formed the centerpiece and at either side was a triple candelabra holding lighted tapers in a peach color. The new Mrs. Agnew and Mrs. Peddicord presided.

3 Recent Brides Women and Young People Honored at Party in Klingel Home

By HALLIE HOUCK

THREE recent brides were commemorated when Mrs. Lovena Klingel and Mrs. Margaret Cresson entertained the women employees of the S. S. Kresge Co. at a shower last evening at 317 Pearl street. The honor guests were Mrs. Alfred Davis, Mrs. John Neidhart and Mrs. Russell McCoy. The rooms were decorated with garden flowers and streamers of pink and white and the honor guests were directed to their gifts by poems. Mrs. Davis who was Miss Betty Bray before her marriage received a set of lamps. Mrs. Neidhart formerly Miss Mary Lou Lish was presented a chenille bedspread and Mrs. McCoy formerly Miss Donna Turner received a canister set and kitchen utensils.

Coolie and contests entertained group. Coolie awards went to Mrs. Enid Hachten and Miss Helen Davis and in contests the awards were won by Misses Betty Haag and Corinne Sears. Refreshments were served.

Present with the honor guests were Mrs. Nora Cove, mother of Mrs. Klingel; Mrs. Ruby Graham, Mrs. Melba Walker, Mr. Margaret Lewis, Mrs. Fred Hadden, Mrs. Ruth Clark, Mrs. Helen Baker, Misses Betty Haag, Virginia Vance, Mrs. Fred Davis, Gant Helen Davis, Corinne Davis and Betty Foxell.

Weddings

Miss Clara Richendollar and John Storer were united in marriage yesterday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock by Rev. H. L. Runkle at his home on Fountain street. The bride who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Richendollar of 368 Leader street has made her home with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dall of 313 Windsor street. For her marriage she wore a black and white ensemble. Her maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Storer, sister of the bridegroom was in a rose chiffon dress with blue accessories. Mr. Storer son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Storer of 529 Jefferson street was attended by Henry Dall, uncle of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Dall entertained at a three-course dinner for the bride party, host and guests at their home. The table was decorated with pink flowers and pink and white candles, carrying out the bride's color scheme. The bride presented her maid of honor with a six-strand gold necklace and Mr. Storer presented his best man with a pocket flash light. Mr. and Mrs. Storer will live on a farm west of Marion.

CCC Soil Conservation Exhibit

Is Interesting Feature at Fair

Owner of farm lands make a point to visit one particular at the Marion fair this week.

The soil conservation exhibit is located at the southwest corner of the building.

Shown in pictures and men in charge the soil conservation program mapped out on the CCC camp.

Center of the exhibit a slide machine auto- shows colored slides on there are 16 of the pictures, some of them made in Marion county and the others made in counties where a similar CCC program is being carried on.

Pictures and Slogans

The pictures include drainage methods and scenes at the camp. Two slogans "Soil Erosion Destroyers" and "Soil Conservation Pays," flank the screen.

Four large display boards of pictures taken in Ohio on land comparable to Marion county land are attention-arresting.

The theme of one of the display the soil and that land should be protected instead of grazed. Another display shows that farming by soil conservation methods properly used pays dividends.

"Soil Loss Means Money Loss" another board warns. The pictures show that soil conservation practices increase yields. Contour cultivation, strip cropping, rearranging of fields, and diversion terracing to divert surface drainage are the methods shown which will counteract this soil loss.

Erosion Demonstrated

The fourth display board deals with sheet erosion of land showing that it precedes gullying and that strip cropping will reduce losses of both soil and water.

Around the three walls of the booth are carved wooden plaques made by some of the boys at the CCC camp, and there is one display board of five free-hand pencil sketches done by several of the youths.

Moratorium on Flesh Creeping

WITH what may be the best intentions imaginable a few Americans who might have something important to say have been making their countrymen's flesh creep. It's a dirty trick. They've been doing it of course to wake up the country. There are real dangers to be faced. But—and this is the payoff—they're not supernatural dangers. The Nazis the Communists and the Fascists still are ordinary men. They pull on their pants one leg at a time. They haven't suspended the law of gravity.

They're not going to do a thing to America except wish they were here. It's going to be that way for a number of reasons. A few—

The United States and Canada finally have got their heads together on a common defense program. Together with the Pan American setup this makes a solid American hemisphere front.

Adolf Hitler and his rope trick economists don't stand to get a thing out of military success in Europe except a liveliest-sized version of the old world headache of trying to create order out of social and economic chaos. Hitler hasn't proved he can feed the guests in his "living room" or keep outsiders from heaving rocks into the happy family's midst.

Europe's "dying duck" apasm has convinced an overwhelming majority of Americans it's up to them and their country to make the new world the strong boy of modern civilization—strong enough to calm down all possible combinations of powers and there aren't nearly so many as the muscle flexers say there are. No other nation has the population resources, initiative and determination to do what the United States is proceeding to do with astonishingly little delay considering the complications which arise when a nation accustomed to taking things easy behind the British navy suddenly decides to stand on its own feet.

The new world isn't the old world. On this side of the Atlantic when someone with a protruding jaw says "Boo!" the national pastime is to say "Boo!" right back and reach for something to serve as an extra punctuation mark. Americans aren't going to stay scared longer than it takes to understand that it's silly. It's the least tribute they can pay the British who aren't scared even now. Just furious because they let the Germans catch them off guard.

Conscription Is Selective Service

WFFN Wendell Willkie said at Elwood he was for some form of selective service. Most listeners concluded he was taking a position identical with that of President Roosevelt. Mr. Roosevelt favors the principle of the Burke-Wadsworth bill pending in congress but does not care to commit himself to the exact form of the legislation leaving that decision to the congressmen of his party.

However on the heels of the Elwood declaration Sen. Taft opponent of the Burke-Wadsworth bill announced he was satisfied with Mr. Willkie's statement because he hadn't mentioned the word "compulsory". The senator said that is "quite different from recommending a draft."

This must be one of those things clear to politicians, murky to everybody else. Conscription draft selective service—all mean the same thing just like leg and limb. In places where delicacy is called for it's customary to speak of selective service.

Sen. Taft raises the suspicion that Mr. Willkie himself thought he was going on record against the principle of the draft by going on record for some kind of selective service. The point needs to be cleared up.

File for Future Reference

BEST known story about Walter P. Chrysler dead at 65 is his purchase of a $5,000 automobile solely to take apart. By taking it apart and putting it back together again—something like 40 times according to his own estimate—he learned how to improve on its design. Knowledge gained in this way led him ultimately to development of the engineering principles on which his own company built its success.

Next time a hush-husher takes a poke at destructive criticism with the idea of protecting a sacred cow haul out the story of Walter Chrysler tearing down $5,000 of shiny new automobile preparatory to finding out how to make a better one for a fifth of the price.

With the Paragraphs

Tried and Tested. Tennessee has adopted as its state dish fried ham and red gravy, plus hot biscuits, and is talking as big about its choice as if the same recipe were entirely original with it. That, to be sure, is a worthy dish. Alabamians built a great civilization on the same diet. We are glad that the Tennesseans at last know some of the facts of life.—Montgomery Advertiser.

OF SOME ADVANTAGE

Communal meals have been suggested in Great Britain as a means of saving food. To those who have sampled British cooking this might also recommend itself as a means of reducing the number of cooks.—New York Sun.

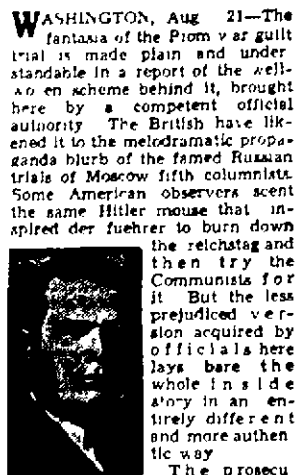

THERE'S A REASON

In many a case a girl saying she hates a man is comparable to a hitch-hiker shaking his fist at a motorist who refused to stop.—Minneapolis Tribune.

News Behind the News

Bid To Restore Confidence of People Seen in Trials Just Begun in France.

By PAUL MALLON

Paul Mallon

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The fantasia of the Ploem var guilt trial is made plain and understandable in a report of the well-known scheme behind it, brought here by a competent official authority. The British have likened it to the melodramatic propaganda of the famed Russian trials of Moscow fifth communists. Some American observers scent the same Hitler mouse that inspired der fuhrer to burn down the reichstag and then try the Communists for it. But the less prejudiced version acquired by official here lays bare the whole inside story in an entirely different and more authentic way.

The prosecution will present such evidence as this—

A sub-cabinet officer in the French treasury was head of a very large clique of government officials who speculated in the fall of the franc after the outbreak of war. They used their knowledge that the franc would decline to make small private profits for themselves.

A government leader was seized at the Spanish frontier with two secretaries carrying suitcases stuffed with 20 million francs (about $500,000 at that time) and a hoard of jewels belonging to his mistress. (He is slated to get about 20 years.)

An heroic educational official in the government was caught running away from the front in a stolen car long before anyone else started to run. (He will get a long sentence for desertion.)

The distrust of French officials for each other was so great that M. Reynaud the premier did not even trust his own foreign minister M. Daladier to deliver his intimate personal messages to the British in the last days. He gave them to a personal friend a woman and she failed to get most of them through.

French Communists.

No evidence of actual treason has been discovered or is expected. The real treason was done by the French Communists although the Nazis now are getting credit for it. The French Communists had long secretly occupied key positions in every government department and acted eagerly as spies for the few French Nazi leaders.

Pétain is an honest and engaging old character who is trying to hold his country together. He is not a Hitler stooge. He is not pulled by wires from Berlin. He is not a Fascist or totalitarian, but rather realistic and religious.

He is faced with a wholly disillusioned nation. The French people demand a goat before they will believe in anything else. The populace must have an adequate explanation of how the dreams of security which they had been fed for decades evaporated almost instantaneously in the face of the first blow.

The trials were conceived by Pétain to provide in order that confidence in a new regime may be built up.

No Death Penalties

The key to his scheme was furnished in the first decision of his well chosen court. The death penalty was excluded at the outset from possible verdicts. No one is going to get killed.

The court likewise announced it proposed to investigate everyone who has been in the government for the past 10 years which means that this judicial antidote for disillusionment will continue to be fed to the people not for months but for years, until the necessity is ended.

Honest Men

No matter what the Italians have just said in an attempt to spoof the tribunal the court is fair. Men able to away the greatest confidence of the people were chosen. That may sound surprising but the whole movement would have failed of its very purpose if this course had not been followed.

A well known Frenchman in this country upon reading the personnel of the trial board exclaimed in amazement. Why these men are honest and wired I obtain immediately of his willingness to return to France to appear before them at any time.

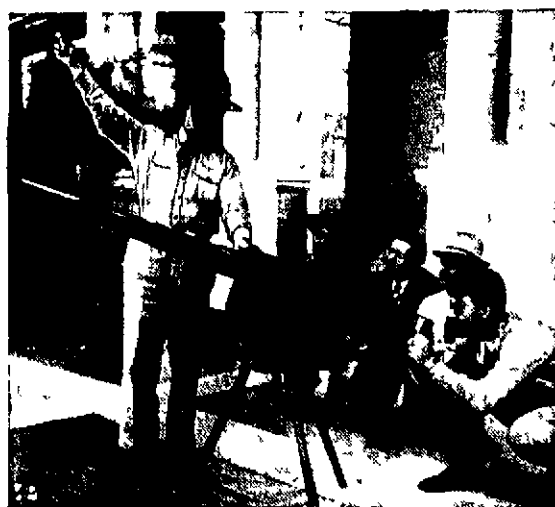

Roman Plan

The initial procedure may have seemed to Americans (and will continue to seem) absurd legally. This is due to the fact that the court is following old Roman law rather than English common law such as ours. Under Roman law the judges first conduct extensive investigations of the case, and then after assuming who is guilty, act as prosecutors to develop the public evidence to sustain their judgment.

Getting an Early Start

Denver Men Form Defense Brigade for Training.

Volunteers of the 411th Infantry train their home made wooden anti aircraft gun on an imaginary bomber, under direction of Maj Harold R. Booth.

By VIRGIL LEWIS

Associated Press Writer

DENVER, Aug. 21.—Two hundred men were so anxious to obtain military training that they couldn't wait for the regular army to provide it.

They conscripted themselves into the 411th infantry, bought their own make shift uniforms and carved their guns out of wood.

At their head are regular army reserve officers some of them veterans of the first World War.

As the word gets around more citizens are joining up—many from the factories and offices, business houses the professions and schools. But they are not recognized by the army and get no official training credit.

Companies Streamlined

Col. Philip S. Van Cise, a Denver attorney and an officer overseas during the first World War is commander. He says the training school gives reserve officers experience in handling men aside from providing a basic military course for citizens interested in national defense.

The 411th's officers have organized the citizen-soldiers into a rifle company and a heavy weapons company, both streamlined. The citizens pay for cotton khaki trousers shirts and overseas caps.

Some of the men drill during lunch in vacant lots near offices or factories. Others report two nights a week. Every other Sunday the entire regiment goes into the foothills for field exercises.

The Continental Divide in the mountains west of Denver has been designated a boundary line between two imaginary nations, the Reds and the Blues. Recently, without declaring war the Reds started marching on Denver capital of the Blues.

The Blue army of the 411th was given a sector to defend in the foothills near Morrison 20 miles west of Denver. The amateur soldiers got a lot of sunshine dust and military experience as they lugged their wooden machine guns and mortar about the hills. They worried about getting ammunition food and water to the crews manning the front line guns.

From 16 To 50

The military students include World War veterans as old as 50 and high school lads of 16.

They're getting the same kind of training they would be given if they quit their jobs and went to camp, says Colonel Van Cise. We've started at the bottom and are giving them a systematic education in fundamentals of the military game. If this country ever needs them they'll be a lot better material than men without training.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thursday Aug. 21, 1930. A Washington dispatch reported that the first month of prohibition enforcement under the department of justice found an increase of 224 in the number of cases awaiting disposition in federal courts. This was first of a series of monthly reports to be issued by Prohibition Director Woodcock.

Plans for beautification of McKinley park began to reach fulfillment as 35 residents of the South Side community near the park contributed several hours' labor on initial excavation for a lily pool. Ten women helped by serving a picnic supper to the workers. The work was under the direction of Dr. F. R. Mann, president of the city park commission.

Arrangements for a Labor day celebration were completed by local committees. The program to include an address by Gov. Meyer Y. Cooper.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Herr of near Morral.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday Aug. 21, 1920. France and England sent a strong note of warning to Poland against attempting any further invasion of Russia after closing Poland's own ethnologic frontier of the Bolshevik forces.

A schedule of campaign engagements for Senator Harding Republican presidential nominee up to and including Sept. 17 were issued at Harding headquarters here. They included Aug. 24 visit of Harding and Coolidge Theatrical league Aug. 25 visit of Wyandot county Republicans, Aug. 27 visit by Senator Harding to Galion to speak at the Erie railroad men's tournament. Aug. 28 Indiana day at Harding front porch with a visit by members of the Harding club of Indianapolis and delegations from some of the Indiana congressional districts. Sept. 4 visit by state chairmen of the ways and means committee of the Republican national committee. Sept. 8 speech on labor questions by Senator Harding at the Marion Labor day celebration. Sept. 8 speech on agricultural question by Senator Harding at the Minnesota state fair Sept. 10, visit to the front porch by delegation from congressional districts in northern Indiana. Sept. 17 speech from the front porch to delegation of citizens of foreign birth from various cities under the auspices of the New York Republican league. Mr. Harding was to speak to all the visiting delegations. The visit of the Harding and Coolidge Theatrical league delegation on Aug. 24 was expected to be among the most unusual of the front porch campaign. The guests to include stars of stage and screen headed by Al Tolson as master of ceremonies.

Senate Isolationists

There's Doubt That a Bloc Actually Exists.

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Mrs. M. A. Kinslow of Long Beach, Calif. asks that I explain who are the senators in the isolationist bloc.

Whoa and when Mrs. Kinslow I may have been guilty of using the term "isolationist bloc" but I hope not often. Some of the writers here and a lot of the talkers have been pretty free with the phrase but mostly on the theory that when they say "isolationist" they don't mean it. They figure that everybody knows they don't mean it.

If there is any such thing as an isolationist bloc I haven't been able to find it. I doubt if there's a senator who would tie that tag on his lapel. As a matter of fact some of the senators who have been critical of phases of the national defense program and the administration foreign policy are nearer anti-isolationist than isolationist if I understood the term.

Proof of this is the consistent unanimity with which nearly all the defense measures have passed and the overwhelming majorities by which some of the most controversial have been written into laws.

Polled The Newsmen

Now if we understand each other I'll try to give you a list. A list compiled by polling the newsmen on the Hill. The men who work with the senate day in and day out I didn't ask who were the members of the isolationist bloc. What I did ask was something like this: If you had to define a bloc of administration opponents on foreign policy, of the men who think and argue that too many acts of the administration in the present crisis are leading toward war of men who insist that we are in no danger of attack from anybody, whom among members of the senate would you include?

Here's the list I got

Bone Wash Capper Kas Clark Mo Clark Idaho Danaher Conn, Donahay Ohio Downey Calif Holt W Va Johnston Colo, Johnston Calif McCarran Nev, Nye N D Reynolds, N C Thomas Idaho denberg Mich, Walsh Mass Wheeler Mont LaFollette Wis, and Lundeen, Minn.

Now be certain of this. There are more shades of thought represented in that group than there are colors in the rainbow. Eleven of them are Democrats six are Republicans one is a Progressive and one is a Farmer-Laborite. They run the whole gamut from Reynolds who hasn't been very vociferous in his criticism lately to Vandenberg Clark (Mo) and Nye who have been very outspoken and on to Holt bitter and scathing toward administration policy.

Not Always Together

They can't be said to hang together always either. When the me sure for calling out the National Guard and reserving officers for a year's training went through the senate there were only seven votes against and if memory serves one of those was from a senator not included in this list.

When Senator Adams amendment to keep the National Guard in this country was rejected by the narrow margin of one vote all the above senators voted for it.

Does that answer your question Mrs. Kinslow?

The Turps

Fine Thing for Ethel

Freckles Dickson, Un

By DAMON RUNY

Mr Joe Turp Written From Brooklyn

DEAR SIR Last night my wife E. D. do you know about the draft you mean the thing they are in Washington to grab guys for the sea yes that is it I see certainly I see sweetheart but don't let it bother if they start grabbing they are on grab guys who are not married.

Ethel sees O I know that Joe is most wonderful thing that ever happened in the world for this neighborhood. It's wonderful thing that ever happened friend Freckles Dickson. She was this afternoon Joe and you never change a girl in your life.

I see has she changed any of the her kisser? Ethel sees why Joe I mean to mention Freckles Dickson. She can't help them no matter how ferretations she uses and besides I make her look cute I see well Ethel freckles make somebody else look c you have a cutlet every time you dinky spot on your pan from the su.

Ethel sees O that's different. Freckles becoming to me but can you imagine Dickson without them? I see no bit I see I have known Freckles ever were kids and I guess I would not her if she came around without them. I see she has always had them. Clancy with her all her life and draft a wonderful thing for her sweet.

ETHEL sees on account of Eddie C. I have been going together for 3e has always expected to marry him b getting a word about it until the when he saw it in the paper that the ing of making fellows who are not into the army. Then he asked her h Joe. It was in the subway when she home from work. He was getting v two when the train lurched and thre a big fat Italian lurched and thro b argument. He has asked her since Joe.

I see wait a minute Ethel I see d tell me that Eddie Clancy has Freckles more than once to marry f getting a quick answer? Ethel sees Joe. She is holding him off. I see idea? I see Ethel a dame who is no be than Freckles cannot afford to be tak I see besides you see yourself she expected to marry Eddie though I do he is any bargain so why hold her.

Ethel sees because she is having. There are two other fellows in the hood who want to marry her. I see that girl who had had only one fe years and always had to be hunti suddenly finds herself with three of I see well all right Ethel whatever I be glad for Freckles' sake I see loved kind of nonsense to me but ought to marry Eddie Clancy be look natural together. Ethel sees O after she has worried him awhile Shie me to be her matron of honor but E if she was five years younger she single and keep those fellows hoppin going to be lots of fun for the girl not married because think of all th they will get.

I see O I suppose you are sorry yo ried? Ethel sees no Joe are you? I am not baby Yours truly I am not baby
